

Complete Clinical Governance

Did you know that the HSE state that where a training provider uses training material other than the Voluntary Aid Societies' First Aid Manual, the material must be supported by a responsible body of governance?

Legal advice from the Resuscitation Council UK also explains that in order to withstand the scrutiny of law, first aid advice should be supported by a responsible body of medical opinion.

Here at Quallsafe.com we take clinical governance very seriously. We know that the accuracy of advice within first aid training books can significantly affect morbidity and mortality in emergency situations. Additionally, in contrast to verbal advice given by a first aid trainer, written information provided by trainers to students is something that can be proven beyond doubt in law – therefore it must be accurate and sufficient in order to protect the training organisation who issued it.

Many other first aid books are not supported by a clinical governance team, and may paraphrase guidance or, at worst, omit or confuse essential elements of advice.

Quallsafe.com is proud to have a distinguished responsible body of medical opinion that review and support our material, which includes:

Professor Sir Keith Porter

Professor of Clinical Traumatology, Past President of the Faculty of Pre-hospital Care, Royal College of Surgeons (Edinburgh), co-founder of citizenAID.

Doctor Andrew Lockey

Consultant in Emergency Medicine, Vice President of the Resuscitation Council (UK), Vice Chair of the European Resuscitation Council Education Working Group, member of the ILCOR Education Group, Associate Dean of Health Education England.
